

The Institution's Innovation Council (IIC)

Composition

The Institution's Innovation Council (IIC) composition, an initiative by the MoE's Innovation Cell, brings together a diverse group of faculty, students, and external experts to foster a startup ecosystem in Higher Education Institutions (HEIs). The council includes key roles such as a President, Convener, and various coordinators (Innovation, Startup, Internship, IPR, Social Media) supported by industry experts, investors, and bankers.

Key Components of IIC Structure:

Council Leaders: President, Vice-President, Convenor.

Coordinators: Innovation Activity, Start-up Activity, Internship, IPR Activity, and Social Media Coordinators.

Members: Faculty members, Student representatives, and Alumni.

External Experts: Representatives from nearby industries, financial institutions, Angel Investors/VCs, and Incubation Centers.

The IIC ensures round-the-year activities, helping HEIs build a robust innovation and entrepreneurship culture, often preparing them for rankings like ARIIA
